- Phone orders shifted to Web within days of launch

“Having been involved in several mid-range computer system conversions I’m personally aware of the way unforeseeable problems can derail the best-laid plans. Dayspring, however, created a dynamically driven Design Studio, moved our website to a new server, installed database and programming software, and switched us over to the new system with virtually zero disruption of our web-based commerce.”

Real-time Rendering...

The Jarvis Davis team sought a technology partner to bring a real-time design studio online for its custom bedding and accessories business. Dayspring integrated a third-party image delivery service from Adobe to achieve a dynamic, rich media experience for visitors exploring the Jarvis Davis offerings. Dayspring-developed online payment and order processing complete the conversion from visitor to paid customer.

Technologies employed:

PHP, Apache Web Server, MySQL, PayPal integration
